WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—While administration leaders of the House went forward today with their plan for a compromise on cash payment of the soldiers' "bonus," the militant original backers of the cash payment served notice they would fight it.

The compromise plan, which includes increasing the loan value of certificates, is understood to have been approved by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Although Mellon has flatly opposed changes in the present law under which adjusted service compensation certificates are payable in 1945, he is said to be willing to have them loan value to aid needy veterans.

Need Aid Badly

The House leaders plan was laid before the treasury by Rep. Bacharach (R) of New Jersey, after he had predicted the compromise plan would be enacted in 10 days.

By increasing the loan value from 22 to 40 to 50 per cent and reducing the interest rate from six to four percent, aid would be given to needy veterans, Bacharach maintained. Cost of the plan "would be under $500,000,000 and would entail little treasury financing," he said.

Rep. Patman (D) of Texas, who has led the fight for immediate cash payment of the three and a half billions of adjusted service certificates, spurned the compromise.

The plan, he said, would permit veterans to borrow, on the average, about $280 more than they now may borrow.

PA NEW OBSERVERS

Folks residing in the hill sections of the city, had difficulty sliding down over the hills this morning, due to the sheet of ice which covered the ground. It was worse between seven and seven-thirty, after which the continued rain thawed off some of the ice, but there were many treacherous spots.

"If our two fire extinguishers had worked we would have saved that house." That was what a Union township man told city fire officials Friday when firemen responded to the Harbor on the Youngstown road and found the home of E. H. Clark on fire. Of course it was too late to save it due to lack of water. After climbing to the roof of the home the volunteers of that township found their extinguishers would not operate. That should serve as a warning to other homeowners in the district to overhaul their extinguishers.

What will today's rain do to the job at the Sheakleyville swamp? Will the added weight of the downpouring water cause the hundreds of tons of earth already dumped there to sink further into the reputed "bottomless" depths? The swamp was filled Friday. The next days' developments will be of interest to many.

Numbers Racket Gets Killing Blow Friday In Harlem District

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The policy game racket in Harlem, which has been steadily falling off during the last few months, was believed on the verge of insolvency today.

"Sure-thing gamblers," according to reports in Harlem, bet every dollar they owned or could borrow on what turned out to be the winning number—$12, with the result that the lottery "bankers" were unable to pay off the winnings.

The lottery figures formerly were taken from the clearing house reports, but since that organization began publishing its statistics in round numbers to fill the "racket," the customs receipts made public daily in Washington are used instead.

According to the operators of the policy, yesterday's killing by the gamblers was not due to luck, but to a "leak" of confidential information in Washington. Holders of five and ten cent lottery tickets gained to the tune of $50,000, it was reported, but the "bankers" were unable to pay off the winnings.

(International News Service)
BALBOA, C. Z., Feb. 7.—The dirigible Los Angeles was safely moored today to the stub mast aboard the tender ship, the U. S. S. Patoka for refueling preparatory to participating in the forthcoming naval maneuvers.

The Los Angeles had too great a start for city firemen to combat successfully. They were handicapped by lack of water in the vicinity. The booster tank of B truck was filled partly by a bucket brigade, quickly formed by neighbors and motorists but an insufficient amount of water and the headway made by flames proved the effort futile.

All that city firemen could do was to help remove furniture and save nearby structures from the advance.

WIFE FINDS BODY SHOT THROUGH BACK

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Feb. 7.—Traced to his arsenal hide-out by rival gangsters, Chester Lamare, alleged underworld czar, was murdered today by gangland hoodlums.

Lamare had been sought by police since last July when Gerald E. Buckley, crime-crushing radio announcer, was assassinated. He was also mentioned in connection with the famous "fish market" murders, so-called because the victims were "big time" bootleggers posing as fish market proprietors.

Slaying of the latter men was said to have precipitated the carnival of 17 gangster slayings in nearly as many days last July. These slayings were in turn climaxed by the sensational murder of the popular radio announcer, who was "put on the spot" in the LaSalle hotel lobby.

Expect More Deaths

Lamare's wife stumbled across the purported gang chief's body when she returned from a corner drug store early today. A bullet hole in the back told the story of violent death.

Prosecutor Harry S. Toy, immediately notified by police, predicted that the Lamare killing was probably the signal for a new outbreak of gang warfare here.

"Other shootings are almost sure to follow," the prosecutor said.

(International News Service)
LONDON, Feb. 7.—According to official figures 160 bodies have been recovered from the ruins of the cities of Napier and Hastings, New Zealand, said an exchange telegraph company dispatch from Wellington today.

Sixteen hundred persons injured in Tuesday's earthquake were treated in emergency hospitals erected in the two cities.

Twelve thousand of Napier's 20,000 inhabitants, including most of the women and children, have been evacuated from Napier.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler had a four-man legal staff today to prepare his defense before court martial in Philadelphia, Feb. 16.

His counsel Maj. Henry Leonard announced from Philadelphia the marine who must face charges growing out of his reference in a speech to Premier Mussolini of Italy as a hit-and-run driver had added three attorneys to his staff.

They were Roland S. Morris of Philadelphia, a former ambassador to Japan and a vice-chancellor of the American Bar association; Col. A. M. Holding of Chester, Pa., and Lt. Col. Jesse F. Dyer of the marine corps.

Leonard may remain in Philadelphia over the week-end rounding up witnesses for the Butler court martial. His client is at Quantico, Va., marine barracks, under arrest. Confidences between the members of Butler's defense staff will begin to-day.

Plays For "Brakes"

Pleas for "brakes" on the Butler court martial were reported from two quarters today, one of them tangible, the other intangible and impossible to confirm. The first came from members of the Philadelphia commission which once placed a tab in the Navy building testifying to the "impartiality, courage and incorruptibility" of Butler. They petitioned President Hoover to call off the court martial.

The other report was to the effect a flying visit the Italian ambassador to America, Noble Giacomo De Martino paid Secretary of State Stimson was for the purpose of asking that proceedings against the marine be dropped.

Italian embassy officials said the ambassador went to see the secre-

Science Teacher Is Placed In Hospital For Criminal Insane

Science Instructor At Green
Lake, Wisconsin, Admits
Writing Threat Letters

(International News Service)

GREEN LAKE, Wis., Feb. 7.—Willard Wagner, 25 year old science instructor in the Markesan high school, was committed to the state hospital for the criminal insane today after admitting the authorship of threatening letters received by other instructors and school board directors.

"Both ships play an important part in the war maneuvers now under way in the Canal Zone between opposing fleets, the object of which is to a large extent to prove the practicability of attack and defense operations by combined air and sea forces."

Messages were found scrawled on school blackboards threatening to have the school blown up with dynamite. Wagner admitted writing these, according to authorities.

He was impossible for military reasons to divulge for "military reasons," according to an explanation furnished International News Service by Commander Newton Nichols.

In clearing up an early confusion as to the whereabouts of the aircraft tender Patoka and the subsequent mooring by the Los Angeles, Commander Nichols stated:

"It was impossible for military reasons to divulge to anyone the exact mooring time of the dirigible Los Angeles or the location of the U. S. S. Patoka."

Rail Delegation Goes To Banquet On Special Coach

Nearly Half Hundred In New Castle Party At Pittsburgh Fete

GROUP RETURNING
HERE LATE TONIGHT

Close to 50 Pennsylvania Railroad officials and employees, headed by Assistant Trainmaster D. M. Royal, left here aboard a special car shortly after noon today for Pittsburgh, where tonight they will share the festivities attending the 10th annual banquet of the Pennsylvania's Transportation Employees Association in the William Penn hotel.

The party was transported from here to the Cherry Street station on two connecting buses. Returning tonight, the group will occupy another special car attached to a late train of the P. & L. E.

Mr. Royal, in charge of the Erie & Ashtabula division party, is the regional chairman for the local district. He handled preliminary seating arrangements.

To Bring Officials

High officials from New York, Philadelphia and Chicago will be in attendance among the 1,000 who have made reservations for the affair. The gathering is a most important one from a Pennsylvania railroad employee standpoint.

The central region officials family will be headed by Vice President John Deasy and General Manager C. I. Leiper, Chief Engineer W. D. Wiggins and General Superintendents P. L. Grove, Cleveland; F. D. Davis, Buffalo; R. H. Flynn and J. C. Rill, Pittsburgh, and all division superintendents and their staffs will attend.

Superintendent H. T. Frushour and many of his staff members were in the local party.

Speakers include J. Huber Hudson of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce and J. Banks Kurtz, congressman from Pennsylvania, E. M. Davis, assistant general counsel of the Pennsylvania will be toastmaster. Two orchestras, the Red Arrow quartet and a score of vaudeville acts are on the entertainment schedule.

ing fire. Practically all furniture was removed. A few pieces remained on the second floor. Provision stores in the Clark cellar were ravaged.

Firemen protected the frame blacksmith shop of Ed Hoffmeister located next to the Clark home. The Clark barn in the rear of the fire was also saved.

A pole upholding telephone wires and standing directly in front of the burning home was quickly attacked by outreaching flames. Telephone service to every home in the Harbor road district was disrupted until late this morning.

The fire attracted hundreds. Automobiles were parked on the Youngstown road for a distance of a mile.

Assistant Chief Stockman estimated the building loss at about $3,000, and loss in the small amount of furniture not saved from the fire was set at approximately $100.

Clark said this morning he did not have any plans for the near future. He said the loss was covered by insurance.

In the near future it is hoped by the civilian military committee, Adjutant General Davis will be able to arrive in this city to inspect and to select a suitable site for the proposed armory building of Troop F.

You're the JUDGE

Jeremiah Hanks contracted with Ed Steeg to build a house for him. Payment was to be one-half of the amount when the plastering was started and the balance when the house was completed.

During the progress of the work, but some time before the first payment was due, a windstorm blew the incompletely structure off its foundation. Steeg, the contractor, employed a firm of building movers to put the building back on the foundation and agreed with the movers that the work should not cost beyond a specified figure. The building was put back and Steeg prepared the building for plastering, at which time the first half of the amount was due. Steeg went to Hanks and asked for the money. Hanks was willing to pay, but he asked Steeg to specify what liens there were against the house so that he might deduct those from the payment. Steeg thought of the house movers and Hanks retained what Steeg told him the cost would be and gave Steeg the balance. Two days later, for reasons unstated, Steeg abandoned the job and Hanks had to have it finished at a greater price. So when the house movers came around for their money Hanks refused to pay. The house movers sued.

Grove City Woman Relates Story Of Night Of Terror

Claims Employee Beat Her And
Chased Her Out Into Night
After Argument

GROVE CITY Feb. 7—Mrs. Bertie Spears, aged 75, of Pine township is in the Grove City hospital this morning, suffering from a beating received allegedly at the hands of Mrs. Nora Potter, who lived with her.

According to the story told early this morning, after she had struggled into Grove City from her home, Mrs. Potter and her husband, Glenn Potter, became involved in an argument and called Mrs. Spears from her bedroom to settle it. Mrs. Spears took the side of the husband, she stated, whereupon she was set upon by Mrs. Potter and beaten severely. She stated that she escaped from the house, and when Mr. and Mrs. Potter searched for her with lanterns, she hid in a ditch. Later she made her way on foot into Grove City, where she told her story and was taken to a hospital.

A warrant was sworn out before Squire Irwin for the arrest of the couple, who are now being sought by police officers.

the appropriation be made outright, instead of for loans to drought sufferers.

Democrats Pacified

Having pacified Democratic leaders, the administration was prepared to deal harshly with any insurrectionary rebellion. Under present plans, any filibustering tactics by the insurgents against appropriation bills will be met by invoking the seldom-used "gag rule" by closure, which limits debate and throttles dilatory maneuvers. Consequently administration leaders hopefully boasted there was no longer any danger of a special session of the new congress being forced after March 4.

The $20,000,000 food loan measure will settle the chief controversy between White House and Senate.

The agreement met with endorsement of Democratic leaders, Senators Robinson and Caraway of Arkansas. Robinson said it removed the danger of a special session so far as he was concerned.

Both senators said they had assurances the administration would "interpret the bill liberally" and that it provided "food loans" for drought-stricken farmers.

Conditions Outlined

The bill itself would appropriate $20,000,000 under these conditions:

1. Make advances or loans to individuals in the drought and (or) storm or hail stricken areas for the purchase of assisting in forming local agricultural-credit corporations. Livestock loan companies or like organizations or of increasing the capital stock of such corporations. Companies or organizations qualified to do business with federal intermediate credit banks, or to which such privileges may be extended, and of making loans to individuals upon the security of the capital stock of such corporations.
2. To make advances or loans to farmers for crop production in the drought and (or) storm stricken or hail stricken areas of the United States."

Another provision would allow loans specifically for feeding cows, hogs, chickens and other livestock on the farms.

All such loans would be secured "by liens on crops or by other security" as prescribed by the Secretary of Agriculture.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—Daily conferences between Major Henry Leonard, chief of defense counsel for Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, and the new counsel members appointed to the staff, Roland S. Morris, prominent churchman, attorney and a former ambassador to Japan, Col. A. M. Holding, prominent attorney from Gen. Butler's home town—West Chester, Pa.—will be far from the case should defense in the Butler trial be allowed to place desired witnesses on the stand.

Both Morris and Col. Holding refused to make any official comment on the impending trial today, referring all queries to Maj. Leonard.

Following Major Leonard's visit it was intimated here a long list of witnesses will be summoned to the court martial in Gen. Butler's behalf. Included will be Josephine Daniels and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, two former secretaries of the navy; Rear Admirals Guy H. Burridge, Charles F. Hughes, Newton A. McCully and Samuel S. Robinson, the last named commandant of the Naval academy at Annapolis, and three army major generals, C. P. Summerall, John L. Hines and Hanson E. Ely.

Many of the 75 prominent Philadelphians who attended the Contemporary club dinner here on January 19, at which Gen. Butler's alleged remarks concerning Premier Mussolini were made, also will be summoned.

METHODIST CHOIR
FETED AT DINNER

A delightful event of Friday evening was the dinner given by the Women's Guild of the First Methodist church of which Mrs. W. L. Beal is president, in honor of the members of the choir of the church, whose splendid work has been greatly appreciated by the members of the church.

At 6 o'clock as the members trouped into the dining room they were greeted with a beautiful sight as the long tables were profusely decorated in handsome red tulips and tall green tapers in crystal holders, each being tied with a red maline bow. There were places marked for 50 and a delicious menu was served by the guild members.

An impromptu entertainment created outbursts of laughter, as under the supervision of DeLace Cole, well known for his ability as a comedian, the church members impersonated the members of the choir, all in a spirit of fun, and the spirit progressed to a high degree of hilarity as each member of the choir was represented, an imitation of their voices and mannerisms being carried out perfectly.

At 8 o'clock the adjournment was called in order that the choir might rehearse their music for Sunday and the women of the guild proceeded to clear away the remains of the elaborate dinner.

LUNCHEON-SPOON CLUB ENTERTAINS

Mrs. E. C. Uber was hostess to the Luncheon-Spoon Club members on Friday afternoon when she entertained at a local inn, the menu being served at 1 o'clock. Covers were laid for 20 guests, and at the conclusion of serving, the guests went to her home on North Mercer St., where they spent the hours informally.

Original Lucky Strikes.

Miss Ruth Jamison and Miss Lilian Eckblum were joint hostesses to members of the Original Lucky Strike club in their home located on East Washington street recently. As a surprise to the associates, a spaghetti dinner was served, later followed by a period of cards. Prizes were won by Don Neymar, Charles Hogue and Mabel King. As special guests the club had Mrs. Florence Hogue and Adelaide Mayberry.

Mrs. R. M. Russell and Mrs. Harry Jennings were aides in serving the dinner.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED AT SURPRISE SHOWER

Honoring Ruth Bergland whose marriage will be an event of February 16, the Misses Kathryn Ansue and Muriel Edmunds entertained jointly at a surprise miscellaneous shower at the home of the latter on Park avenue Friday evening.

Bridge featured the hours, four tables being in play, and success awards were won by Martha Lloyd and Evelyn Swanson. Later, the tables were re-arranged and centered with tall pink tapers in green holders, tied with green maline, where a delicious collation was served by the hostesses. Cupid place cards marked each place.

A Valentine bridge game will be provided for those who wish to play cards, and also other amusements are being arranged by the social committee. Lovely prizes are to be awarded.

This is the second of the series of club dinners given for the members.

SURPRISE SHOWER FOR YOUNG COUPLE

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Joe McCaskey, bride and groom of recent date, a group of friends gathered at the Reformed Presbyterian church on Friday evening and gave a miscellaneous shower. It was a pleasant surprise for the young couple and the evening proved delightful in every way.

Refreshments were served about 10:30. Games were enjoyable pastimes. The honor guests received many lovely gifts.

TUESDAY BRIDGE PARTY AT FIELD CLUB HOUSE

The regular Tuesday afternoon luncheon-bridge party will be given at the Field club house Tuesday, February 10, for its members. A game of bridge will be contested in, and prizes will be awarded to the winners at the conclusion of the game. This will be preceded by the serving of a luncheon in the dining room of the club house.

Mrs. J. E. Crawford and Mrs. John Foster will be hostesses for this occasion.

Bachelor Party.

Angela Casachia, whose marriage is to be an event of the near future, was tendered a bachelor party by a group of friends at the Venice restaurant on Thursday evening. Peter P. Capitola was master of ceremonies and presided throughout the affair, which was a most enjoyable one. Peter Iodice presided at the piano. Congratulations were extended to the honor guest by his father John Casachia, District Attorney John S. Powers, Councilman L. G. Genkinger, J. L. Rubin and Frank Casimieri, who were among the guests of the occasion, and a fitting response was made by the honor guest.

A ten-course Italian dinner was served by Sam, the chef, in a manner that added to the enjoyment of the occasion. The guests of the occasion were P. P. Capitola, Peter Iodice, L. G. Genkinger, Samuel Peluso, Carm Sacco, John S. Powers, Tony Marino, J. L. Rubin, Mike Cavelli, E. J. Casachia, B. J. Blodini, Frank Casimieri, Joseph Lagrene, John Casachia and the honor guest, Angelo Casachia. The tables were decorated in a pleasing manner and the affair was a success in every way.

Birthday Party.

A delightful social event of recent date was the birthday party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wolfe, East Washington street, when they entertained in honor of the birthdays of Leo Wolfe and Mrs. Gladys Ferrell.

Games, music and dancing helped to fill in the hours until it had grown quite late, when the hostess served a tasty lunch, assisted by Mrs. Sarah Love, Mrs. Jake Kannerbauer and Elizabeth Depner and the honor guest.

New Age Group.

There will be the regular meeting of the New Age Group on Monday evening, February 9, in the parlors of The Leslie.

Important questions will be considered at this time and all are urged to be present.

Music Committee.

The Music Committee of the Department of Fine Arts of the Women's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. S. D. Pearson, Moody avenue, on Thursday, February 12, at 2 o'clock promptly.

R. F. U. Class.

Mrs. Oliver Fleeger of Neshannock avenue was hostess to the T. Y. C. Club in her home Thursday when she entertained at a Valentine party.

Cards were in play during the earlier hours, with the prize being won by Mrs. Cora Smith. Later a piano duet was rendered by Lorretta and Leota Fleeger, twin daughters of the hostess, and Don, her son, gave a group of ukulele selections and songs as entertainment.

At a late hour Mrs. Fleeger served a delicious lunch, having as sides Mrs. Kenneth Boalick and Mrs. Leonard Cooley. The appointments were cleverly carried out in Valentine's also the same were given as favors.

In two weeks Mrs. Clara Walker of Cunningham avenue will receive the club.

DINNER EVENT FOR FIELD CLUB MEMBERS

On Thursday, February 12, members of the New Castle Field club will gather at the club house on the Wilmington road for their monthly club dinner.

After the serving of the menu a playlet entitled "The Romance of the Willow Pattern" will be presented for their pleasure. The story of the play is based upon an old Chinese legend that is familiar to many and is splendidly enacted by a group of prominent women.

A Valentine bridge game will be provided for those who wish to play cards, and also other amusements are being arranged by the social committee. Lovely prizes are to be awarded.

This is the second of the series of club dinners given for the members.

INFORMAL TEA HONORS HOUSE GUEST FRIDAY

The 1914 Book Club members were charmingly entertained by Mrs. John Foster, Friday afternoon, at the New Castle Field Club. Luncheon was served to 14 guests at 1 o'clock, at tables prettily arranged in tones of pastel shades, centered with bouquets of selected flowers. Later, they adjourned to the card room, and contested in a game of bridge, which occupied the balance of the afternoon.

In two weeks Mrs. W. L. Campbell of New Wilmington will entertain the club at her residence.

SURPRISE GATHERING HONORS LOCAL FAMILY

Former neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Chapman and family entertained at a surprise dinner in their home on Morton street Friday evening.

After the dinner, the honor guests who are leaving soon to make their home in Illinois, were presented with a lovely set of madera linen. The remaining hours were spent pleasantly with games of various sorts and 500.

Those who had the pleasure of participating included Mr. and Mrs. Sturdevant and son Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mullen, Dale Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burrows and daughter Pauline, the honor guests and daughter Helen and son Junior, and son J. Elder Jr.

SOROSIS MEMBERS VOTE ON CLUB FLOWER

The Sorosis Club members met on Friday at the home of Mrs. John Whitten on Wallace avenue for their regular session. Their president, Mrs. W. J. Calvin presided and roll call was responded to with a current event, a large number answering.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Roy Hazen read the minutes of the previous meeting followed by the election of officers. Those elected were Mrs. J. Lee McPate president, Mrs. John Leonhard vice president and Mrs. W. W. Sniff secretary. The members at this time voted the Snapdragons as their club flower.

Critics Acclaim It!

"No theater-goer who is decently grateful for the divine gift of eyesight should fail to see 'Hell's Angels'.

"Besides the sheer magnificence of a part of this picture, all stage spectacles and colossal circuses become puny."

IT CANNOT BE DONE

HOW man clings to life and its joys! One of the richest men on earth has been heard to say that he would give well-night all he possesses for a healthy, normal stomach. Quacks line their pockets with easy gold by merely holding out the hope that by a gland transplantation the old may be made young again. He who has lived to 60 or better and finds the fires of youth cooling like embers on the hearthstone, fondly believes that he would gain something could he recover the physical abilities of youth and couple them with the ripened experiences of elderly manhood.

Fallacious folly!

We experience youth but once, the rounded experience of manhood but once, the twilight hours of decadence but once, life and death but once. There can be no turning backward of the years, the hours or the minutes. That moment which elapsed between the reading of the last paragraph and this sentence has been rolled into the unnumbered centuries which mark the past. It will never return.

Youth but once! That is the sentence of deity. But it is not a hard sentence. It is possible to so live the days we have that even when the physical abilities are breaking down there remains a joy and gladness in the softening twilight hours which ripens one for the harvest and the heroic entrance into that magnificent experience which we are wont to believe awaits us beyond the tomb.

BANNER GOOD ROADS YEAR

The whole wide world is going in for good roads this year on a greater scale than ever before, if the national programs as outlined at the twelve-month's beginning are carried into effect. On the basis of reports received from 110 "nations and political sub-divisions," our commerce department estimates the world expenditure for highway construction in 1931 at $3,000,000,000. Approximately two-thirds of this huge total will be spent, it is explained, here in the United States. But dozens of other nations either are increasing their budgets for general highway building or are making special and additional allotments for specific highway projects.

This international "good roads consciousness" is largely a product of the worldwide depression. As a general thing, it is explained, increased expenditures for highways are provided as "a direct measure of relief for unemployment." But it is pointed out that "the permanent character of the works will, of course, bring lasting benefits to the countries concerned." Incidentally it should stimulate and stabilize the demand for the motor-vehicles which in their turn have so powerfully stimulated and stabilized the demand for good roads. It is even conceivable that this "by-product benefit," if it may be so called, to an industry in which the United States enjoys leadership may have prompted the world survey of road-building activities by our own government agencies.

AERIAL COMMUTING

The other day Capt. Frank Hawks, "speed monarch of the air," flew from Fort Worth, Texas, to New York City to fill a lecture engagement. The next day he flew back to Fort Worth to resume his benevolent barnstorming tour of the Southwest with Will Rogers in behalf of drouth relief.

It was a 1,400-mile trip each way. The flyer reached New York in eight hours and 30 minutes, with three stops along the way for refueling.

That casual little jaunt back to New York just to keep an engagement was spectacular. One of these days such flights will be commonplace. How simple it will be then to commute from pleasant residential communities to offices in distant cities. Going from one coast to the other for week-ends will be amazingly easy and inexpensive. Short vacations will no longer limit travel-hungry souls to nearby scenes. It's a great prospect.

GIVING WHILE YOU ARE LIVING

It was Andrew Carnegie who first enunciated the principle that under certain conditions it might be a disgrace to die rich. But the famous ironmaster was not the only one who tried to put that philosophy in practice. The late Nathan Straus is a conspicuous example. It was assumed that he would leave a huge estate, but when his will was read it was found that his remaining earthly possessions approximated a million dollars. To some this may seem like a great deal of money, but wealth is relative; and in this instance it is a modest estate. One-tenth of this is left to faithful servants and employees of the family.

In the envelope containing the will of Nathan Straus was a newspaper clipping epitomizing his philosophy: It was headed: "Give while you live." It was an interview with him in the course of which he said: "There is no greater pleasure in life than giving. Give while you live and life becomes truly worth while. The one whom a word of praise might inspire and make happy might better have it today than later. Give the banquets now when they will be most appreciated." Mr. Straus was always deeply impressed by an old Jewish proverb which says: "What you give for the cause of charity in health is gold; what you give in sickness is silver, and what you give after death is lead."

It is highly gratifying to know that the habit of giving while you are living is becoming more and more pronounced in this country, asserts the Philadelphia Inquirer. Year by year larger and larger amounts of money are contributed by men of means to charitable, educational and religious purposes. Many valuable institutions owe their success and their expansion to gifts of this kind. And the generous benefactors have the immense satisfaction of seeing the good that has been accomplished while they are still mingling with the men and women of this world.

Many a fight is not for rights but for wants.

Many a husband is willing to accept advice from almost any woman except his wife.

A woman carries almost as much trash in her handbag as a man does in his pockets.

Milliners are responsible for a great deal of the overhead expense of the average home.

As long as so many persons are satisfied with the veneer of life there will be plenty of it.

It would be great if we could live backwards—be born old and grow a day younger every day.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

Driving a high powered car, the Englishman left New York for points west. Night came. As he rounded a corner of Bear Mountain he collided with a flivver and sent it spinning down into a ravine. The Englishman stopped, got out, and pering into the inky blackness below called:

"I say—anyone hurt?"

No answer.

"I say," he repeated, "is anyone hurt down theah?"

No answer.

With a shrug he got back into his car. "Frightful snobs" he murmured.

A PROMISE

Astonishing dialog between a doctor and his patient.

"Are you sure I shall recover?" demanded the patient anxiously. "I have heard that sometimes doctors give the wrong diagnosis and have treated patients for pneumonia who afterwards died of typhoid fever."

"You have been woefully misinformed," declared the doctor indignantly. "If I treat a man for pneumonia, he dies of pneumonia."

When we get rid of the jawyers let's see if we can't get rid of the man who says "Hello-o-o-o" when he answers the telephone.

Have times really changed?

Eighty years ago, in the United States Senate, Daniel Webster said: "There are persons who constantly clamor, they complain of speculation and of the pernicious influence of accumulated wealth. They cry out loudly against all banks and corporations and all means by which small capitals become united in order to produce important and fundamental results. They carry out mad hostility against all established institutions. In a country of unbounded liberty they clamor against oppression. In a country of perfect equality they move heaven and earth against privilege and monopoly. In a country where property is more evenly divided than anywhere else, they rend the air shouting agrarian doctrines. In a country where the wages of labor are high beyond parallel, they would teach the laborer that he is only an oppressed slave. They would shock the foundations of industry and dry up all the streams."

How "critical" we are of faults in others; how tolerant we are of our own follies.

Careful observation and much roundabouting have finally convinced me that no woman is as bad as she looks to her enemies.

And yet, if you shield people from seeing, how do you expect Nature to eliminate fools?

Dear Hints and Dints: Here are the "Ten Commandments" from a husband's point of view.

1—Thou shalt have no other concern but to serve thine husband.

2—Thou shalt not make unto thee any interest in life separate from thine husband's, for I, thine husband, am a jealous husband, visiting the wrath of my egotism on thee if thou shalt prevent my desire in any way, even until the third and fourth wife will I vent my wrath. But I shall show mercy on thee and love thee if thou wilt be meek and obedient to my every wish.

3—Thou shalt not take any of the glory of our family. Thou shalt pamper my vanity and bring forth my sons and my daughters. They shall bear thy husband's name and when possible his first name, that thy husband's name may go forth in glory to posterity.

4—Remember thine husband's evening meal and keep it warmly. Six days shalt thou labor, cooking for thine husband and thine husband's friends and on the seventh day thou shalt prepare an extra fine meal as thine husband must rest and eat on the Sabbath day.

5—Honor thine husband and thine husband's people and thy days may be long and full of work, with no controversy.

6—Thou shalt not think, for I, thine husband, shall do thy thinking for thee.

7—Thou shalt not converse with nor have any dealings whatever with men, for it is unholy for thee to speak with one of the opposite sex, except thy husband. Platonic friendship is for thine husband only.

SHE MARRIED BADLY

I remember her well. She was little and pretty and lively and surrounded by a swarm of children. It looked like a swarm, but I suppose they were only three or four. They were her own, and she was about 35 years old. There weren't many automobiles in those days, and I'd see her and her husband and children coming into town of a Saturday afternoon to do their marketing and perhaps a little visiting, while the horses were hitched at the town plaza.

Even as a boy I never paid much attention to her husband. He was a quiet, steady sort of person, I suppose, who rarely opened his mouth. I didn't see him staggering out of any saloons. I never saw him beat his horses. I thought he was all right; but I didn't really know him.

I'd passed their house, about five miles out of town, and it looked like most farm houses—small but neat, and all the fences and the barns, and the outhouses were whitewashed. With chickens and kids playing around and cattle on the rise back of the house.

I also knew some of her town relations. It was from them I gathered that Jane's life was sad. . . . I knew the relations well. They were just like all the rest of us in a country town, but more prosperous. "They had money"—and the merry little wife of the quiet farmer was one of them, but she didn't have any money. Furthermore, none of them thought she ever would have any money to speak of, unless oil were discovered on their ranch, and that wasn't likely. So, when I was at the house of the town relations, I heard her talk pitying of "Jane," who had no money and had to work so hard." She didn't LOOK as if she worked too hard. In fact, she looked healthier than her kinfolk in town—and happier and far more interested in life.

Nevertheless, from their point of view Jane had married badly." She could have married a man with a fine ranch, but she refused him. She married this man with a little ranch and they'd had rather a hard time for several years and were deeply in debt. And after I heard about that, my small boy interested in the farm wife grew to enormous proportions. I used to stare and stare at her and wonder whether her heart was breaking. I would hear her laugh and think of the courage it must take to laugh when you are bogged down in despair. I speculated about her quite a bit, and for a few weeks she was a heroine of mine.

But never, while I was a youngster, was I able to figure it out. It was years before it occurred to me that, though Jane had married badly, she didn't know it! They considered her husband a failure, but Jane didn't agree. People were sorry for her, but she wasn't sorry for herself. They thought she ought to weep, but she couldn't help laughing. She was one of those splendidly fortunate people who can't be persuaded that they're out of luck.

She married this man with a little ranch and they'd had rather a hard time for several years and were deeply in debt. Council Hears More Protests

Second Ward Property Owners Continue To Make Complaints

MANY ASSESSMENTS HAVE BEEN RAISED

Councilmen met as a board of revision Friday and continued hearing appeals from assessments by second ward property owners. The board members indicated that all of the appeals made would be given close attention after the appeals had all been heard.

Among those who made appeals were:

James W. Barnes, 435 Park; lot in 1927 was $500, now $1150; building was $5950, now $6000. He was told the frontage rate was set by the revision board.

Mary McCreary, 416 Summer (Mr. Creary appeared). It was discovered that her 1931 assessments had not been raised.

John A. Thompson, 418 Park; lot is $1000, dwelling $4210. He said the assessments are high. The house, he declared, is assessed more than it cost him. He helped to pay for the paving.

Della Gurgiola, 315 Shaw street; lot raised from $700 to $810. House is assessed at $3600. Mr. Gurgiola described the lot as short. He has no space for a garage. "We will investigate," Reeves stated.

B. P. Moorehead, 330 Park; lot in 1927 was $960, now $1080; house has been assessed at $3900, same as 1927. He said, "I am on the south side with a lot 140x130. It is a 50-foot street with a 27-foot cartway. The lots on the south side of Boyles are 160 feet deep to a 20-foot street. Both are assessed at $27 a foot front."

Park Through Street.

"You have made Park avenue a through thoroughfare which spoils the residential features. On Sundays there is double parking which prevents people who have automobiles from getting to the avenue. I think the valuation of Park avenue is off center."

"The same situation exists on other streets," said Mayor Gillespie.

"In the assessment on the building, it is $1300 more than it cost me 23 years ago."

Stanley Shoup, Clemmons: lot raised to $900 or from $12 to 15 a foot front. He has no electric light and lot is low. Councilman Reeves promised to have a light installed.

Harry G. Euwer (Attorney Long, representative), Washington street: lot in 1927 was $42,350, now $45,090; building $11,200, now $12,000. He declared the narrow frontage, in his opinion, caused him to believe the property had not been assessed equally with others. Councilman

Burns told him the $2,000 per foot front rate prevailed for 180 foot lots in depth.

Frank Taylor, 498 Neshamock boulevard, said his lot had been jumped and the board said an error had been made and adjustment would correct it.

Asks Equalization.

Harry Moore, Delaware. He asked that his assessment be made equitable with those of neighbors. He said his ground had been assessed at $22, when it should be $17. His ground is assessed at $4370. He said when he bought the ground, one lot was in the city and the other outside the city plotted it. He maintained the city had no right to plot it without authority. Councilman Reeves said it would be investigated. His lots, it appears, front on two streets.

Mr. Schuster, 117 Hillcrest; lot is assessed at $720, which he believes too high. "Is the avenue paved at your lot?" Mr. Schuster gave a negative reply.

C. H. Tate, 220 Hillcrest avenue said his lot is assessed at $400, but he had no appeal to make for his house, $3560. He told the board members he had put 400 loads of dirt in the lot.

Elwick Scarazzo, 305-07 Shaw; lot $750, remains the same as 1927, like wise the house $500. He said he would sell for $4500. The board indicated they would cut the assessment on account of the condition of the house which is in bad condition.

He made an appeal concerning a garage in Meyer avenue. Scarazzo said it was assessed from $320 in 1927 to $400 now, and offered to turn it down if the city granted a permit. Councilman Genkinger informed Scarazzo he would have the city remove the garage and the assessment would be cut off the records.

Merle Allen, Mercer and Englewood. He said his lot had been assessed at $10 a foot front. He claims there is no gas, water or electric service in the vicinity. The lot in 1927 was $190 and is now $750. "We will consider this," remarked Reeves.

William Woodworth, 335 Park; his lot was assessed at $1350. It was $1250 in 1927. The house, $4850 remains the same as in 1927. He said it is higher than it should be.

He claimed that the market value of the house is $20 less now than it was and told the board of revision he had only paid $6,000 for the lot and house.

Mrs. C. Belle Tieckburn, 1210-12 Delaware avenue, said her property has been assessed at $6000. She said it is unimproved, not modern and 27 years old. She said an assessment of $4500 would be all that it justifies.

Samuel McGoun appeared for H. E. McGoun, 215-2-7 Washington street. The latter had received an increase of $5,000 in assessments, which are, lot $6,660 and building $4,420. He said that in his opinion the assessors had been right in their North Mill street assessments. He defended Washington street property interests. He declared he believes North Mill street for a certain distance as assessed, is pay more than any others in town.

He asked about Moody and Hazelcroft avenue foot frontages and seemed satisfied and remarked that "I don't get this relationship to one. I do not believe you have one. Let us get it right next time. We have good people here and they want to pay their share of taxes."

I would like to go to the matt with anyone in regard to the North Mill street-Washington street proposition," Mr. McGoun stated. The North Mill street assessment is about one-third that of Washington street.

He alleged that on North Mill street "they get more than one-third as much income as Washington street." He said he believes North Mill street for a certain distance as assessed, is

Public Recital Tuesday Night

New Console Will Be Used For Concert On Church Organ

For the first time since the installation of the new console of the organ of the First Presbyterian church, a recital will be presented on Tuesday evening by Thomas H. Webber, Jr., organist and choirmaster of the church, assisted by Frank E. Fuller, tenor, who is the organist and choirmaster of St. John's Episcopal church of Youngstown, O.

The new console is a more comprehensive one than the one replaced, having four manuals and 46 speaking stops. It has added quality and many new combinations to the organ, and the First Presbyterian church wishes to share this splendid instrument with the public.

There is no charge for the recital. It is presented in the hope that it will attract a large crowd of music lovers who can best appreciate the beauty and quality of the organ, augmented by the installation of the new console.

Mr. Webber's ability as an organist needs no recounting here. Since assuming the directorship of the First Presbyterian church he has proven himself an artist and the program he has outlined is one that permits the greatest latitude for his artistry. His assisting artist, Mr. Fuller, is known here and will be a welcome addition to the program.

Rev. W. C. Tyrrell Special Messages

Rev. W. C. Tyrrell, pastor of the Primitive Methodist church, announces that he will have two special messages of real interest to deliver from his pulpit Sunday.

At 11 a.m. he will preach on "The Carnal Mind." What is it? Do we have it until death or is there deliverance now? At this service there will be a number of boys and girls received into membership with the church.

At the 7:30 p.m. service he will have a special sermon with "The Great Salvation" as his theme and will discuss in what does this greatness consist and what are the consequences of rejection?

Sabbath School Executives To Meet

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association Thursday evening, February 12, at the Y. W. C. A. at 7:30 at which time business of importance will be transacted and it is hoped every member will be present.

Mayor's Letter Tells Plans For Scout Election

Chief Executive Asks For Schools' Cooperation Next Monday

SCOUTS TO BALLOT FOR CITY OFFICERS

Mayor William H. Gillespie today sent over his own signature a letter to the city's two junior high schools and senior high school, and to the schools of New Wilmington and New Bedford, asking them to observe certain instructions in voting for scout officials on Monday, February 9.

In part, the mayor's letter read:

"Distribution of ballots and marking of same will be done at times announced by your school principals and their instructions in regard to this will be carried out by you."

"To obtain a ballot, you will go to the place or room announced by your principal, and show your scout registration certificate. This will entitle you to one ballot. Fill it out carefully, and then write underneath the bottom line your name and troop number. Two ballots having the same name, or having no name at all, will be thrown out."

"Place the ballot in boxes provided for this, and at times directed by your principal. These boxes will be sealed at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon and collected by council officials."

"Scouts who are employed, and not able to vote in the schools, may vote at the scout headquarters, 313 Green building, from 10 to 12 noon, and from 2 to 4 p.m. of that day."

Scouts named next Monday will preside as executives of the city between the hours of 11 and 12 on Thursday, February 12.

IT IS MORE IMPORTANT

To believe in yourself than to have any one else's confidence. To be the master of your own spirit than the master of many men. To keep your confidence in people than your confidence in business. To have faith in the right than to belong to the winning party. To have a clean record than never to be the victim of scandal. To have a plan for life than to have a fortune without a plan. To do good work than to get good pay.

"I'm hugging her, sir."

"What do you mean by taking such liberties?"

"Oh, ahem! I'm a reporter."

"What's that got to do with it?"

"Well, you see, I have a press pass."

Urge Residents To Familiarize Selves With Code

City Plumbing Inspector States Many Are Ignorant Of State Law

Plumbing Inspector Harold W. Dunlap stated today that there are a great many residents of New Castle who are not familiar with the laws governing the installation of plumbing work in this city.

Quite frequently cases are reported to the plumbing inspector, regarding the installation of plumbing work, done by others than registered licensed plumbers, which, after an inspection has been made, shows that the work has not been done according to the plumbing code. In some cases the work is very unsanitary and in the end has caused unnecessary trouble and expense to the property owner.

The law requires that a permit be taken out for all plumbing work, which can only be issued to a registered master plumber and an inspection of the work can only be made by the plumbing inspector.

As spring approaches, it is only natural that there will be increased activity in the installation of plumbing work, and the attention of all is called to the Pennsylvania state law which reads as follows:

"No person other than a registered plumber shall be allowed to alter, repair, or make any connection with any drain, soil, waste, or vent pipe or any pipe connected therewith."

Any person or persons who shall fail to comply with any provision of this Act regarding the propounding of a license or certificate to engage in or work at the business of piping or house drainage, shall be liable to a fine of not less than ten ($10.00) dollars, nor exceeding fifty ($50.00) dollars for each and every day he or she shall engage in or work at said business without first obtaining said certificate or license."

Members of Worth grange held their regular meeting in the grange hall Tuesday evening.

PORTERSVILLE STATION

SPYING ON THE HUMANS

Chief Engineer tapped Peter on the arm. "Say, boy, we Arts work hard but so do the humans!"

"Of course, but how did you find that out?" demanded the boy.

"By spying on them," answered Engineer frankly. "One day I crawled to a town where many Two-Legs lived in many hives. Great feet that would have crushed a colony of Ants at one blow shuffled along on all sides of me. I dodged one foot only to find myself right in the path of another. My goodness, what a time I had. One false move and there would have been nothing left of your friend here. But luck was with me. Somehow or other I managed to escape injury and for all that I was half scared to death. I had a mighty good time in your man's town. Why does everybody hurry so?"

But, before Peter could open his mouth, Engineer Ant had answered his own question. "Because they are busy. But now, I ask you, what are they all doing?"

"was on his way to dig a ditch; another was setting out to build a home; a third was hurrying to do his farming. Then, I crawled up a wall and peeped in a window. And there I saw Mrs. Human bending over a bowl and stirring it and stirring it. Sife, too, was in a hurry. By and by another Mrs. Human came out of another room and she went to a funny little door, pulled it open, took out something, and, oh, my, how good it smelled!"

"That was a cake I bet," exclaimed Peter. But Engineer Ant went right on as if the boy had not spoken.

"The men in the street and Mrs. Euman in the hives were as busy as bees; only they were not making honey, and, hard as we Arts work, we have never seen to grow as weary as your people did. Every now and then again there were footsteps that lagged. And as I watched them through the window, the Mrs. Humans sighed and I heard one of them say, 'My back aches from beating this batter. I am so tired I could drop.'" the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church met on Friday evening at the home of Miss Virgil Weitzel, West Clayton street, with Miss Virginia Guy as associate hostess.

Eight members were present and most of the evening was spent in review of the mission study book. Refreshments were served by the hostess at a later hour.

OPPORTUNITY CIRCLE

An all day meeting of the Opportunity circle of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church was held on Friday at the home of Mrs. H. E. Rhodes on West Madison avenue.

Twenty members of the circle were present and a study was made of the mission study book—"India Looks to Her Future." Sewing was given out for the Siam hospital.

Henry McNicholas of 833 Beckford street, reported to the police Friday afternoon that he was enroute East on East Washington St. at Junior High street, when a street car operated by A. C. Kelther, at 108 East Wallace avenue, stopped at Ray street to take on passengers, while enroute west.

A woman named Markkula residing on DuShane street, started running across Washington street in front of the street car and Mr. McNicholas tried to avoid her by running up over the curb onto Junior High street. The car however, sideswiped her, knocking her to the street.

A physician who happened to be passing at the time took her in his car when she was picked up by Mr. McNicholas, and took her to her home. The physician examined her at her home to determine the extent of her injuries and found that she had escaped with a bruised leg. Her injury was apparently not serious.

Tourist Expenditures In Year Show Increase

Several Million Americans
Toured Europe Leaving
$900,000,000 Abroad

Surprising Number Of Tourists Visiting Canada,
Mexico And West Indies, Shown

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Times have been "hard" and unemployment widespread last year, but that did not prevent several million Americans from touring foreign lands by motor or rail last year, leaving close to $900,000,000 abroad.

Government agencies in compiling tourist expenditures for the year have been surprised to find an actual increase in the number of Americans going to Canada, Mexico, the West Indies and to Europe, it was learned today.

Tremendous Gain Shown.

There was a gain in overseas tourists by about 27,000, although a slight decrease in the number of European travelers who went first class.

Overseas tourists numbered approximately 460,000. Final figures for Canadian travel have not been completed, but there was a substantial increase in the number of automobiles entering the Dominion as compared with the 4,508,809 motor cars officially permitted to enter that country in 1929.

Two important events, the Passion play of Opernmergau and the tour of the Gold Star Mothers, 2343 chiefly responsible for the increase in European travel. There were 2600 Gold Star mothers in the party which with relatives and friends probably increased the number to 8,000. It was estimated that 50,000 visited the Passion play from the United States.

Unemployment was believed to have contributed somewhat to travel, particularly to Canada by automobile. There was the usual movement of students abroad, traveling on their general educational allowances. School teachers, working on fixed salaries, form a big block of the traveling class during the summer season.

Enormous Sums Spent.

Questionnaires returned to commerce department officials studying the touring traffic, indicated there is another class so rich that heavy speculative losses and decreased

Ellwood Legion Post Is Leader

Ellwood Post Prepares To Attend Banquet For Legion Leaders

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—In a recent Membership Round-up the 26th District finished 7th in the state. The J. Wilbur Randolph Post of the American Legion of Ellwood City came out first in the district. In the last few meetings the local organization has had nearly its full membership present.

The legion won on record as favoring the cash payment of the adjusted Compensation Certificates.

There was much enthusiasm displayed over the coming National Commanders banquet to be held in New Castle March 11. The banquet is sponsored by the 26th district and is in honor of the National Commander O'Neill of Kansas, and the Pennsylvania state Department Commander, Charles Engard. Major General Smedley Butler has also been invited as guest of honor.

Reservations for the affair can be made by getting in touch with Commander Sleighter and Adj. Baird.

It was announced that at the next meeting of the Legion Harry Turner will be chairman of the Entertainment committee and has promised to have some amateur boxing bouts on this occasion.

Ellwood Girls Lose To Aliquippa

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—The Ellwood City High school sextette had dropped their second game of the season and both to the Aliquippa high girls. The one last night at the Lincoln gym the visitors won by a 28-11 score. Coach Helen Cooper had presented a revamped lineup due to the graduation of three valuable performers, the Misses Mary Jane Thompson, Ruth King and Bertha Caplan, captain.

The local team had presented some sturdy opposition in the initial period by holding the invaders to a 7-4 score. But they could not stop the Aliquippa forwards Cunningham and Robinson who got 4 and 3 field goals respectively. The visitors were in front again at the half 16-8. Then in the ensuing period they held the locals to 3 points while they collected 9 making the score at the end of the third quarter 25-11. The final score was 28-11 for the invaders.

High Team Wins In Last Minute

Defeats Evans City By 23-22 Score In Game Friday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—In a fast and breath taking finish with only less than a minute to play the Ellwood City High School trossers nosed out Evans City quited by a 23-22 score in the game last night at Lincoln gym. The visitors had a one point lead in the waining moments of the contest and were playing for time. Then Ellwood upon recovering the ball with a fast and clever play from Rossman to Cloak under the basket gave Evans City its second defeat at the hands of the Inglen.

The contest was close and hard fought throughout and the local team managed to have a one point advantage at the end of the first period of battle. This was reversed at the half with the invaders enjoying a 11-10 lead. At the end of the game in the ensuing period Evans City was still out in front by a score of 18-17.

The final stanza was full of thrills. Both teams were striving to maintain the lead. The score was deadlocked and broken a number of times. It seemed as if this boy Denbow of Evans City was going to cause Ellwood's downfall. But it was the timely play by Rossman and Cloak that saved the issue. Dudick had brought the home team within one point of the visitors lead by sinking two fouls and deserves a lot of credit in the Ellwood victory.

This now gives Ellwood four contests won and three lost in the section lead. Their previous defeat at the hands of Mars had eliminated them from any consideration for sectional honors.

Lineup: Ellwood 23 Evans City 22 Cloak P Kennedy Kennedy P Myers Rossman C Denbow Lindgren G Wahl Latiano G Lutz Substitutions: Ellwood, Foreystone for Rossman, Zeigler for Dudick, Dudick for Latiano.

Field goals: Ellwood, Cloak 4, Rossman 2, Latiano, Zeigler 1, Evans City, Benbow 6, Wahl, 2, Myers 1.

Fouls: Ellwood, 4 out of 17. Evans City 5 out of 11.

Two Services At Tabernacle Sunday

Evangelist Mahler To Speak Twice — Special Music Is Arranged

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—There will be two great closing services at the Tabernacle in Beaver avenue on Sunday. Rev. Adolph Mahler, evangelist, is concluding a week of meetings. He will speak this evening on "World Wide Bolshevism." On Sunday there will be two services. The usual Sunday school and Bible class period is scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock and at 3 o'clock Rev. Mahler will make an address on "The Hebrew Passover."

Arrangements have been completed for special music on instrument and song. And then at 7:45 Rev. Mahler will deliver his closing address.

The subject is "My Conversion From Judaism to Christ."

The services will open up with rousing gospel singing and several musical selections will be rendered.

New Castle Extended To Defeat Mars, 28-24 In Rough Floor Game

Mars High Puts Up Bitter Struggle Against New Castle Passers

Nick Uram Stars As Local Cohorts Win Fourteenth Straight Victory

In the roughest game witnessed at Senior high gymnasium so far this season, the New Castle high quintet was extended to defeat a powerful Mars high team on Friday night. The final score was 28-24. It was the work of Nick Uram who scored four times from the field that brought the local "patched up" combination through in the fourteenth straight win of the season.

Contest Close

The contest proved a close one throughout with Mars high securing the lead in several instances in the first half and making one of the most successful rallies seen on the high school court this season. The tilt started out with Mars high securing a 2 point lead when A. DeMatt made a nice shot from the side of the court.

J. Uram made good a foul for New Castle. Campbell made a pretty one handed shot to give Mars a three point lead at 4-1. This lead did not last long when Nick Uram sank the ball through the net from the center of the court and Shaffer eaged his first tally from the side. Marvin followed Shaffer up with a double decker to place the score 7-4 with the local boys on top. Campbell made a foul for the visitors to cut the lead down to two points.

J. Uram came through with a point from the charity line. J. DeMatt was given two free throws which he made good as the first quarter ended with New Castle leading 8-7.

Mars Takes Lead

Campbell started the scoring in the second period by making a nice shot from the side to place his team on top by one point. Shaffer tied the score nine all, when he annexed a point from the free line. Dickey again placed his team on top when he scored from mid-floor. Mars lead 11-9 at this time.

Lasky was fouled three times but made only one count. J. Uram sank in 2 fouls to give New Castle a one point advantage at 12-11. Campbell for Mars made good a foul to tie the score. A. DeMatt followed with a well directed shot from the foul line as the half ended. The score was 14-12 with the visitors on top.

As the third quarter got underway Johnny Uram had a chance to place New Castle on top when he shot four fouls but he failed to make any of the free throws count. Nickie Uram started the scoring by registering two double deckers in succession to give New Castle a 2 point margin at 16-14.

Andy Lasky made good two fouls. Keifer came through with one foul out of two, followed by J. DeMatt who tallied a one pointer from the foul mark. J. Uram made a field goal and a foul as the score favored the Coach Eridenbaugh quintet, 21-16. Shaffer annexed his second goal of the contest from the side of the floor followed by J. Uram and Nick Uram who made beautiful shots as the third quarter ended 27-17, New Castle leading.

Fourth Period

At the start of the fourth chapter, Campbell made a foul for the visitors which put Nick Uram out of the contest via the four personal foul rule. Tony Cooper replaced Uram. After Campbell made a foul, Keifer who had replaced Dickey earlier in the quarter came through with two field goals under the basket to make the contest a bit closer. The score now stood 27-23 with three minutes left to play.

J. Uram tallied New Castle's only point of the final period when he scored a foul. With only a few seconds left to play A. DeMatt made a foul as the final whistle blew ending one of the closest and roughest games witnessed this season. The final score favored New Castle 28-24.

For New Castle the playing of Nick Uram and John Uram featured while Campbell and A. DeMatt was the best for the losers. New Castle remained idle until February 14, when the locals travel to Evans City. The crowd that watched the game Friday night was small.

At St. Mary's

List Of Rules Made For Teams Entering Amateur Basketball
Tourney

"Jokey" Travers, business manager of the St. Mary's Auditorium, at the corner of North and Beaver street today announced the set of rules under which the amateur basketball tournament will be staged in the very near future. The tourney will be held the final weeks in February. There are quite a number of teams entered already.

A meeting of the managers of the various teams will be called very shortly and player lists will be taken at that time. The tourney officials are going to be very strict regarding eligibility.

There will be two classes Juniors ranging from 14 to 19 and Seniors 20 years and over. There will be loving cups for the winners, and possibly other prizes.

Following is the set of rules composed by Travers, also an entry blank for the managers to fill out. The rules must be lived up to by all teams entering. Managers clip the below entry blank and send in to Jokey Travers, or Charles "Bugs" Walther at The News Office.

RULES OF TOURNAMENT

1—Teams to be classed as Senior and Juniors.
2—Managers are responsible for members of their teams.

3—Tourney Committee reserves right to expel teams from play in the tourney for the following reasons:

(A) Unsportsmanship of any player.
(B) Use of any unregistered player.

4—Teams must have played at least ten games (10).
5—Teams must be uniformed.
6—No player can be signed after player list has been turned in.
7—No (1) player can play with any other team, or (2) teams.
8—Ruling of the Tourney Committee will be final on all protests.

9—Entrance fee of $1.00 for junior teams, and $2.00 for senior teams, for good faith of entrance.

10—Age limit of juniors 14 to 19. Seniors 20 and over.

Stove League Gossip

The spirit of peace which seems to animate major league and minor relations is not 100 per cent throughout all baseball, after all. There's been a merry little bit of warfare going on between two of the smaller fellows, the Three-I and Central league.

These two circuits are neighbors, the Three-I comprising eight fairly large cities in Illinois and Indiana and the Central, as now constituted, four important communities in Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Difference between the two circuits broke out when Joe Dunn, one-time veteran Three-I league manager and owner of the erstwhile Springfield Central league club withdrew and signed to pilot the Bloomington Three-I club.

Permission granted Dunn by the Central league to transfer some to the Falcon court. This was the eleventh straight victory for the Bucs. The Bucs led throughout the game. Hanlon, Deep and Thomas led the Bucs, while Noga and Koszella were the best for the losers.

The summary: Y. Bucs 26. Falcons 21. Wallace, F. Boron Ross, F. Koszella Whitteman, C. Noga Deep, G. Buiny Hanlon, G. Slezek Subs—Bucks, Thomas for Ross, Falcons, Kendra, Joe Kolodziewski, Bud Zip Dudak.

Field goals—Hanlon, 4. Deep, 2. Thomas 2. Wallace, Whitteman, 1. Norge 4. Wossella 2. Slezek, Dudak 1.

Fouls—Y. Bucs, 6 out of 16. Falcons, 5 out of 7. Referee—Marion.

Efforts by Con Daley, one-time owner of the Richmond Central League franchise (this club abandoned play in the middle of the season) failed when Daley was unable to gain sufficient support from Springfield business interests.

WAMPUM MERCHANTS Win From Dewberry

WAMPUM, Pa., Feb. 7.—Wampum Merchants floor team won its twelfth victory of the season Thursday night on the Wampum floor defeating a fast Dewberry A. C. quintet of New Castle by the score of 46-16.

On Tuesday night the Wampum Merchants play the Syrian Eagles on the Wampum floor.

The summary follows: Wampum 46. Dewberry 16. DeMark, F. Latimer, Allen, F. Crespy, Aiello, C. Critchlow, Smith, G. Wachner, Ferrucci, G. Can. Substitutions: Wampum, Boone, McKim; New Castle, Chill, Schass. Fouls: Wampum 2 out of 13; Dewberry 4 out of 7.

Field goals: DeMark, 7. Aiello, 2. Boone, 5. Smith, 3. McKim, 3. Ferrucci, 2. Latimer, 1. Crespy, 1. Can, 1. Critchlow, 3. Referee—Bill Galbreath.

Lawrence Encampment No. 86 held a very interesting and well attended meeting last night in the I. O. O. F. hall on East Washington street. There was quite a delegation of members from Ellwood City in attendance. A class was initiated into the mysteries of the Royal Purple degree. The evening was brought to a close with the serving of a fine lunch by the committee in charge.

NAB COAL PICKERS ON PENNSY TRACKS

Pennsylvania railroad police yesterday arrested and haled before aldermen here two trespassers charged with taking company coal.

Sidney Fleming, South Cedar street, was released, but Roy Ivey, colored, Preston avenue, paid a fine of $5 and cost for petty larceny.

Polish Falcons Card Ambridge

The strong Polish Falcon basketball team will play the Ambridge Falcons tonight at 7:30 o'clock on the Falcon court. The locals will be out for revenge tonight as the Ambridge team won at Ambridge earlier in the year by a 28 to 20 score. Monday night at the Falcon hall the Greenville Drags will be the opponents. The game starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Next Wednesday night the Grove City team will be played at the Falcon court. The Falcons have two open dates on the card to fill and would like to schedule games for February 19, 26, on their home court.

The following teams are asked to get in touch with the Falcons for games: Finnish Lutherans, Bessemer Boosters, Hillsdale and Germantown. Call Joe Frankovich at 3011-M before 7 o'clock and after 7 o'clock at 9294. There will be a dance at the Falcon Hall after the game tonight.

"Y" Buccs Trim Falcon Juniors

The "Y" Buccs trimmed the Falcon Juniors 26 to 21, in a game at the Falcon court. This was the eleventh straight victory for the Buccs. The Buccs led throughout the game. Hanlon, Deep and Thomas led the Buccs, while Noga and Koszella were the best for the losers.

The summary: Y. Buccs 26. Falcons 21. Wallace, F. Boron Ross, F. Koszella Whitteman, C. Noga Deep, G. Buiny Hanlon, G. Slezek Subs—Buccs, Thomas for Ross, Falcons, Kendra, Joe Kolodziewski, Bud Zip Dudak.

Authorizing a contract with the Pennsylvania Power Company, its successors and assigns, for the lighting by electricity of the streets, ways and public places of the Borough of South New Castle, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania.

WHEREAS: The Borough of South New Castle agrees to enter into a contract with the Pennsylvania Power Company for the lighting (by means of electricity) of the streets, highways and public places in said borough.

NOW, THEREFORE, it is enacted and ordained by the town council of the Borough of South New Castle, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, that the president and secretary of council be and they are hereby authorized and commanded to enter into a contract with the Pennsylvania Power Company for the lighting (by means of electricity) of the streets, highways and public places in said borough in manner and form to wit:

CONTRACT

THIS AGREEMENT made and entered into this ninth day of January, A.D. 1931, by and between the Pennsylvania Power Company, a corporation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, having its principal place of business in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and the Borough of South New Castle, a duly organized and incorporated borough of the state of Pennsylvania, party of the first part,

AND THE NECESSITY THAT the parties of this agreement, in consideration of the covenants and agreements upon each part to be done and performed as herein set forth, do hereby agree as follows:

FIRST: The Company agrees that its successors and assigns, upon payment of the amount of $1000, shall maintain the necessary equipment, lamps, brackets, wires, etc. to provide a complete, incandescent lighting system in the short distance of the street lighting system daily at sunset and sunrise to provide 4000 hours annual burning.

SECOND: The Company agrees to maintain the lighting system from time to time under authorization of the borough officials. Such authorization to be in writing and signed by the president and secretary of the resolution authorizing said installation. Provided, however, the Company shall not be required to do so during the last year of the period covering this contract, except by mutual agreement.

THIRD: The Borough agrees to take and pay for all lamps and signs in the Borough as may be designated by the council thereof and such additions thereto as may be installed as authorized aforesaid, according to the following schedule to wit:

Memorial Held On Life Work Of Bar Members

Exercises At Court House
With Judges Hildebrand
And Chambers
Presiding

FIVE DECEASED ARE REMEMBERED

Memorial exercises in memory of five deceased members of the Lawrence County Bar Association were held at the court house on Friday afternoon with Judges R. L. Hildebrand and James A. Chambers presiding.

Deceased members were Former Judge William E. Porter, A. Martin Graham, Mark L. Rabinovitz, Alvan L. Porter and Scott D. Long.

After memorials had been read, remarks were made in each case by a member of the bar. C. H. Akens spoke on the life and work of former Judge W. E. Porter; Homer Drake on A. Martin Graham; Charles Davis on Mark L. Rabinovitz; H. A. Wilkinson on Alvan H. Porter and J. Norman Martin on Scott D. Long.

At the close general remarks were made on all five by Attorney F. A. Hover.

The memorials in each case contained a brief history of the life of the deceased member of the association, including data regarding his birth, school advantages, admission to the bar, and an outline of his work while connected with the bar. Also expressions of the high esteem in which the member was held by co-workers.

At the close of the exercises copies of the memorials were ordered to be sent to the families of deceased members, and also to be spread upon the minutes of the court.

British trade unions had, at the end of 1929, a membership of 4,821,000, of whom 2,275,925, or less than half, contributed to the political funds of their unions.

In connection with this campaign there will be special services in the post rooms on West Washington street Sunday afternoon at 2:30 with special speakers at the Sabbath school service and special music will mark the sessions.

At 7:30 F. Tyler will be the speaker and his subject is "Raising Cain", and his message promises to one worth while.

JARRETT REFUSES TO RUN FOR MAYOR

FARRELL, Pa., Feb. 7.—Attorney Ben Jarrett has declined an offer of a group of local business and professional men to make him a candidate for mayor at this year's elections. He would not be able to find time to devote to the office, he said today. The offer was made after a committee appointed by the group reported that Jarrett was the most worthy prospect for the office.

Bishop Cannon Gives Defense

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., Starts Defense Today Before Elders

TWELVE JURORS ARE TRYING CASE

(International News Service)

James Cannon, Jr., whose long career has been replete with controversy, was putting up the battle of his life today behind the closed doors of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church South.

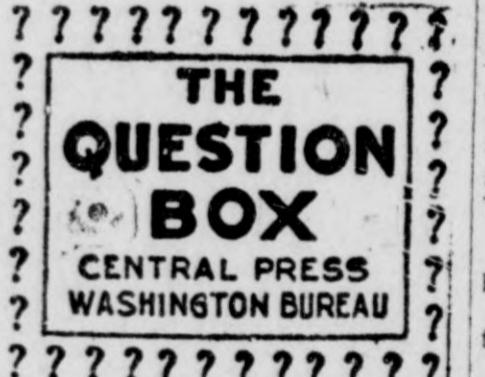

The bishop's battles heretofore have been of the offensive variety; today it was defensive and self-defensive, at that.

Earnest and, admittedly with great adroitness, the beleaguered bishop presented his defense today to the charges preferred against him by four of his brother clergymen, charges which, if sustained, will cause his suspension from the church, and quite probably the loss of the bishopric which he values so highly.

The twelve ecclesiastical jurors who hold his fate in their hands listened with great attention, and with only occasional interruptions.

The bishop was polite, earnest, and deferential. Gone was the flaming defiance and the crusty temper such as he exhibited before the Caraway committee of the senate last summer, when he stalked from the room and challenged the committee to discipline him. It was no snate committee which the bishop confronted today.

Bishop Cannon patiently began his defense by taking up the first of the many charges lodged against him for alleged misconduct. This charge dealt with his stock market speculation, unearthened by a senate committee.

Answers to questions on information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O., and enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions, nor will the estimated value of old coins be given.

What is the correct wording, and who is the author, of the quotation that begins: "If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon—?"

The quotation is: "If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door." Mrs. Sarah S. B. Yule credits the quotation to Emerson in her "Borrowings" (1899), asserting that she copied this in her handbook from a lecture delivered by Emerson. The "mouse-trap" quotation was the occasion of a long controversy, owing to Elbert Hubbard's claim to its authorship. Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, managing editor of the standard dictionary, gives the credit to Hubbard.

How many motion picture theaters are there in the United States?

According to a recent survey there are 22,371 motion picture theaters in the United States, with an aggregate seating capacity of 11,000,000.

Why is the nine of diamonds known as the "Curse of Scotland"?

One of the various reasons given for the nine of diamonds being called the "Curse of Scotland" is that during the reign of Mary a thief attempted to steal the crown from Elizabeth castle, and succeeded in abstracting nine valuable diamonds. To replace these a heavy tax was laid upon the people, which was termed the curse of Scotland.

Another explanation is that when the game of come was introduced into the court at Holyrood, the nine of diamonds being the winning card, got the name because of the number of courtiers ruined by the game. Still another is that the Duke of Cumberland wrote his orders at Culloden, where 5,000 Highlanders were overwhelmed, on a nine of diamonds, April 8, 1746.

When was the first flight of a heavier than air machine made in the United States?

On May 6, 1896, for the first time in the United States history, a motor-driven airplane accomplished a sustained flight. The plane was a small model, developed by Professor S. P. Langley, whose later man-carrying planes proved unsuccessful. The first persons to achieve flight in a heavier-than-air machine were the Wright brothers at Kitty Hawk, N. C., Dec. 17, 1903.

Does the Hudson river flow entirely within the state of New York or does it form the boundary line between the states of New Jersey and New York in the last few miles of its course?

The Hudson river flows entirely within the state of New York except for the last few miles where, with New York bay, it forms the eastern boundary of New Jersey, separating it from the state of New York.

What country is the cucumber a native of?

The cucumber was originally a tropical vegetable.

Revision Meeting For Second Ward

County Commissioners Will Finish Up Work With That
Ward On January 16

Court of appeals for the Second ward will be held by the county commissioners on February 16. It is not anticipated that the county assessments in this ward will give the trouble that has been experienced over the city assessments, as it is claimed that the county assessments have been generally lower. With the hearing on the Second ward assessments, county commissioners will have completed all the boroughs, townships and wards of the county.

As a general proposition there has been very little kicking on county assessments, except in Union township, where there was a general protest made. As a result the county commissioners appointed a committee of three, who went over the books with the commissioners. Owing to the many raises and inequalities, it was decided to use the former tri-annual assessment as a basis for taxation during the next few years.

As soon as the results of the board of revision work have been tabulated county commissioners will set the millage for the ensuing year. Indications are that it will be made the same as last year.

That's right; that's a good one.

"Whom can I send it by?" the Secretary wondered aloud.

"Send it!" said Lincoln. "Send it! Why don't send it all. Tear it up. You have freed your mind on the subject and that is all that is necessary. Tear it up. You never want to send such letters. I never do."
